

The Sims 3 Showtime was released a week ago, but players are still asking what to do in order to redeem the extra content of the Limited/Collector's Editions or the registration rewards

Here's a short guide.

Register your game

First off, you have to register your game. To do so, log in to your TheSims3.com account and go to My Page -> My Games. Insert your game serial and the registration is completed. Now, depending on the version of the game you have, you can download some extra items.

Registration Reward

Just because you have registered your game, you can download an exclusive DJ booth, which is also the only bonus item you can get if you own a copy of The Sims 3 Showtime standard edition.

If you own a LE or CE, this item will be added to the other extra gifts you can have.

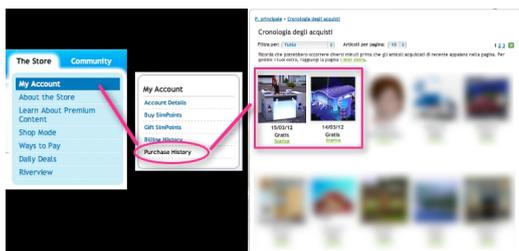

There's a known problem about the DJ booth, since many players don't seem to be able to get it or the download won't start. To solve the issue, you can download it manually on the Store.

Limited Edition Bonus Content

If you have the Limited Edition, you can download an exclusive venue where your Sims can perform. To do so, you have to insert your redemption code (not your game code) in this page. If you don't live in an English-speaking country and can't open the redemption page or get a 404 error, setting the site's language to English will do the trick.

Once you have inserted your redemption code, go to your Purchase History and there you will find the item.

Please keep in mind that it may take several minutes for the item to appear.

Collector's Edition Bonus Content

If you have the Collector's Edition dedicated to Katy Perry, you can download not only the bonus venue of the Limited Edition, but also a bunch of items inspired to the singer. To do so, you have to insert your redemption code (not your game code) in this page. If you don't live in an English-speaking country and can't open the redemption page or get a 404 error,

setting the site's language to English will do the trick

Once you have inserted your redemption code, go to your Purchase History and there you will find the item.
